Phone Investigation Recording

Investigator: Hello, hello!

Doctor: Hello?

Investigator: I am calling to ask a question. Does Peking University Third Hospital still do kidney transplants?

Doctor: Yes. Can you hear me clearly?

Investigator: Now I can hear you. Are there a lot of patients on the waiting list?

Doctor: Waiting list? Are you talking about the patients, who have been hospitalized and are waiting for the operation?

Investigator: I know that the patients, once arriving at the hospital, need to be put on a waiting list. Are there a lot of people on the waiting list?

Doctor: You'd better come here and find out the specific details. It's not convenient (for me) to tell you.

Investigator: Oh? How long does the patient need to wait? If a lot of patients are waiting for transplants, how long is the wait time?

Doctor: Wait time? Each operation team has a waiting list and they vary from one to another. (Investigator: Oh) Because several surgeons can do kidney transplants. You'd better come to outpatient service and make an appointment, then you'll know which team would receive you.

Investigator: Is doctor Ma Lulin in your department?

Doctor: Yes, he is our director. You may make an appointment with him directly.

Investigator: Oh, do you mean you have more than one transplant teams? Are there several teams?

Doctor: We have several teams, which are capable of performing kidney transplant surgeries.

Investigator: So how many teams do you have?

Doctor: We have 11 teams.

Investigator: Ma Lulin is the director and we may ask to see him directly, right?

Doctor: You can make an appointment with Director Ma directly.

Investigator: Have you done a lot of transplants? How about this year?

Doctor: I have answered this question. Did you hear me clearly?

Investigator: You'd better tell me the approximate number. If you have done more than all other hospitals, I am certainly willing to come!

Doctor: Our department has completed about more than 100 transplants a year.

Investigator: More than 100?

Doctor: Right.

Investigator: OK. Good.

Doctor: OK, OK.
